

Greetings from the Sudduths – Please consider a visit to camp so you can soak up the chatter and laughter of happy campers. We serve a buffet lunch daily (only a few exceptions) and it is easy to include visitors who want to be surrounded by Wyonegonic Spirit and walk the pine needle paths.

Wyonegonic Camps

Wyonegonic – Greener than Ever!

We have often been referred to as the "green" camp. So many camps have blue uniforms it has been an inside joke with a few of our Maine camp director friends. We are proud to be green and live a simple life in the summer time...flashlights instead of electricity in the cabins, fireplaces instead of heat in our Wiggies, canoes and hiking boots for trips instead of vans to the Malls . . . In this 21st century we are conscious of being "Greener than Ever."

When driving into camp have you ever wondered why there is a small pond in the woods between Junior and Senior Road? Did you know that Wyonegonic is licensed by the State of Maine to operate our own waste water treatment system? In 1989, George Sudduth voluntarily shut down most of the leach beds in camp that were located along the waterfront and installed a series of pump stations. These pumps send all of the camp's effluent water uphill to the man-made lagoon that you see along the entrance road. There is another set of underground pumps that handle the Cobb Dining Hall wastewater. After the water is treated by solar energy from the sun, each fall it is sprayed back into our ecosystem in a spray field located in the woods. This unique system is designed to keep the effluent water from leaching into the lake. Wyonegonic was not required to go to the expense of designing, building and maintaining this system; it was something George did to protect our land and water.

Today, that system is regularly tested by the State of Maine so that we know it is working as designed. Our drinking well is located in the upper field near the Stables. The water is pumped from the ground and into three 2500 gallon storage tanks. It is then gravity fed down the hill and distributed to all parts of camp. A benefit of our topography is we can use gravity rather than electricity to move the drinking water. However, we do need to use electricity to move it back up the hill to the waste water lagoon, and then more electricity to spray it back into the ecosystem. So for every gallon of water usage we save, we are saving electricity as well.

"What's for Dinner, Sheila?"

This will be my seventh season as food service director and I look forward to it every year. I am happy to be part of a wonderful group of people who strive to be the best at what they do. Good food is important to Wyo. It's important for growing girls to get the nutrients they need to grow strong and stay healthy. The support and care the Sudduths give to the kitchen and staff makes this possible.

We serve fresh, wholesome meals with a careful assessment to provide the proper balance of nutritious and tasty meals. We serve mostly whole grain breads and avoid high fructose corn syrup and trans fats. We encourage healthy eating by providing a wide assortment of good food and lots of choices while serving family style in the beautiful Cobb Dining Hall. We have added more choices at breakfast; along with the hot meal we now offer a daily buffet with low sugar, high fiber cereals, hot cereals, low fat yogurts, fresh seasonal fruits, cottage cheese, hard boiled eggs and varieties of breads. We do not serve sugared cereal or have sugar bowls on the tables.

At lunch our drinks are real juice with lemonade offered occasionally. Our daily salad bar is chock full of healthy salads, vegetables, grains,

Our maintenance staff keeps careful records of how many gallons of drinking water we use every summer and also how much water is sprayed through our system. The good news is those numbers have been steadily decreasing over the last several years. We can attribute it to our campers and staff being conscious of their water usage as well as upgrading our toilets to low flow models.

In the Cobb Dining Hall Wyonegonic continues to use the green and white Syracuse China you remember for meals, except for our lunch buffet. This past decade we used paper plates and plastic tableware for lunch to ration our waste water in order to keep our system running efficiently. Due to our successful conservation efforts, we are planning on using real plates and silverware for our lunch meals this coming summer so that we can eliminate the paper and plastic products that get used and thrown away each day. A daily noon buffet has also contributed to less food waste.

There are many other ways that we are continuing with George's "green" tradition - replacing light bulbs with low energy CFL bulbs, recycling, composting our food waste from the kitchen, purchasing as much food and supplies in bulk containers, upgrading outdoor lights with motion sensors and conserving paper in the office. We are posting newsletters electronically and much parent information on our website. It is our aim to continue to educate campers and staff with best practices to care for our environment. We appreciate the support that we receive from our campers, staff, parents and visitors in keeping Wyonegonic "green"!

cheeses, nuts, dressings and olive oil and vinegar. The sandwich bar has a great variety of sandwich fixins, chicken, egg, tuna, homemade hummus, swiss and cheddar cheeses offered with pitas, three varieties of wraps and whole grain breads. Fresh fruits are also plentiful. New last summer we offered all natural peanut butter along with the traditional peanut butter and jelly table. A fresh baked cookie occasionally completes lunch. Camper favorites and suggestions are heard loud and clear and tater tots and corn dogs do get a big cheer.

At dinner we serve mostly homemade meals avoiding the overly processed, high sodium packaged foods. We serve fresh ground turkey, chicken, steak fajitas, brown rice, pastas and fresh vegetables and real mashed potatoes. The kitchen gives the extra effort to make sure the campers and staff are well fed and happy. We are also pleased that we are composting all our scraps and leftovers. A dream is to have a big garden with the campers involved in growing vegetables ...Any staff want to take this on?

Prospective families usually ask, "Is the food any good?" Without hesitation you will hear a positive response from staff and campers "It is, oh . . . so . . . good . . ."

See you all soon. Greetings from our Food Manager.

There are two options for tax deductible giving.

OPTION #1: Make your check payable to the AMERICAN CAMPING FOUNDATION. This endowment fund is in memory of George N. Sudduth. All donations go toward building a principle. The interest and gains achieved each year will be awarded annually towards our goal for a racial and socio-economic diverse camp population.

OPTION #2: Make your check payable to the AMERICAN CAMP ASSOCIATION. This camp scholarship program is set in memory of past owners/directors. All donated monies are used annually to assist families who have qualified for financial assistance.

GIFTING OF SECURITIES is also possible. Contact Steve for procedures by calling 207-452-2051.

MATCHING GIFT FORMS should be sent to the camp address.

DEFERRED GIVING is possible by designating Wyonegonic in your will.

Mellen Daniels McCormick pictured six grandchildren on her Christmas card. All ages are just perfect for Family Camp. "Mellen" is looking for duplicate bridge players. Any Wyo alums interested? Mary Hobler Hyson enjoyed her annual walk through Wyonegonic. She still vacations one week in Bridgton and also makes it back in the Fall for the Fryeburg Fair. Mary reports that her daughter Katie is engaged to be married this summer. Katie is a kindergarten teacher in NH. Nancy Corder Judge and her retired husband, heart specialist doctor Dick, enjoy living in Vermont. East Coast grandchildren pop in often. Currently they have four grandchildren as campers and two as staff. They are pictured here with two daughters,

Marsha with wedding party.

Marsha Hahn now lives in Jackson, Wyoming after her recent marriage. "Wyoming is beautiful and the sun shines a lot here. We are a stone's throw from the Grand Teton National Park and spend many afternoons in the park hiking, kayaking, cross country skiing or just communing with nature. If you are ever in the area, please stop on by. Walking along a path on a warm afternoon with the smell of pine in the air always conjures up memories of Wyo. Yes, they were good summers. When I read about the 100 mile wilderness trip my heart skipped a beat. Maybe you should offer adult camp. I would sign up for that one." Margie Acton Pool has 7 grandchildren. All boys . . .

Anne, Dick, Nancy and Sara Judge

Anne Judge Favaloro and Sara Judge McCalpin. Anne Christian Tedeschi writes from Wisconsin that she is anxious to communicate with her counselor, Jean Gentry McMullan. Jean and Andy are residents in Vero Beach, FL where their condo's location affords the luxury of ocean waves lulling them to sleep each night. They are actively involved in fund raising and special events for the Atlantic Chamber Orchestra. The McMullans come north each summer to enjoy their Alford Lake home in Hope, ME. Cornelia "Skip" Gentry enjoys living in Maine year round, near her grandchildren and daughter Carole.

Grandsons of Margie Acton

Catie Lindsay Olinski and her husband love hearing the loons from their new vacation property in Lovell, Maine. Margaret Missy Lindsay, who is a professor at Trinity College, now has strong ties to Bridgton. Bunny Betts is happy to have two granddaughters at camp, Elizabeth and Margaret Perkins, children of her daughter Hope Dana. It is so nice to have this third generation loving camp. Carlton Smith retraced family roots to Scotland, saw her grandfather's childhood town and milked goats on the Isle of Skye. Carlton still manages Family Camp where friendships deepen with returning families and staff.

Peg Larsen, who was a CIT in 1956, is pleased that her best friend's grandchildren will be two junior campers this summer. Peg has such positive memories of her camp experience and now she has the perfect reason to visit Wyonegonic. Carol Merriman Osmer visited Ora Brine in Florida. Sally Barnes Sonne is watching a dozen grandchildren grow, waiting for the day they can start enjoying camp. Joanie St Clair Goodhew's husband has been dealing with health issues. Their family Christmas card portrayed a crop of seven grandchildren. Mary Trafton Simonds enjoys having lunch with folks who like to talk about camp. She has informed us of a camp friend Cynthia Taft who is now deceased. Sally Tague Cole and Elizabeth Owens Hodder both enjoyed a camp visit this summer to visit their granddaughters, enrolled as campers. Mary Gilbert went to Palo Alto, CA for the 2009 National Senior Games in race walking. She also climbed 14,497 foot Mt Whitney, the highest point in the "Lower 48." Edith Phyfe is living in Hanover, NH with her two daughters.

Jean Hudson Witmer and her husband came to the Greenwich Reunion. A friend surprised her with a beautiful wooden sign for their Pocono vacation home which she refers to as her "Wiggie." Libby Jones visited the Wyonegonic Museum after spending a week at Arcadia National Park in October. Susan Shirk made a nostalgic visit back to Wyonegonic in July. She has lived in La Jolla, California and taught political science at UC-San Diego since 1975. Susan is an expert on China and Asia, and served as Deputy Assistant Secretary of State responsible for China during 1997-2000. Her latest book is China: Fragile Superpower. Susan and her husband, fellow political scientist Sam Popkin, have a daughter and son who work in NYC.

Susan Kamm Connors reports that her husband John returned home from his year of working in Iraq for the US Government. She enjoys her teaching and will take recertification courses this summer. Her Mom, Carol Wiggins Kamm and Bill, are active in Richmond. Trudy Bower Pirinis has reconnected with good camp friends Edyth Phyfe and Randi Barrett. She hopes to enjoy a stateside visit from her UN work in Rome next spring.

Angstadt sisters

Katy Angstadt Rahe is grateful for the turn her life has taken with a husband that makes her laugh every day and three great step children ages 24, 22, 20. Liz Angstadt, Katy's sister, joined Katy and Rod in the Avon Walk for Breast Cancer in October... 39.5 miles for a good cause. They will repeat again in 2010. Elaine Buerkens Rains continues to work in the area of social services and enjoys taking courses at the U. of Denver which is connected to the Butler Institute for Families.

Hannah Palmer Snyder and Bob attended the Philadelphia gathering. The family of Betsy French Cayo vacationed on Moose Pond in August in remembrance of their Mother's love for Maine and Wyonegonic.

Lee in Egypt

Lee Louttit Tauck's Christmas card showed her in Giza Egypt on a camel. She traveled with daughter Robin Tauck to visit her granddaughter Colleen Leth who was working at a museum in Cairo. Anne Darneille Snodgrass is substitute teaching in DC and spends four months a year at her summer home in Bridgton where she plays tennis and serves on the Lakes Environmental Association Board. She and Tony were happy to have all four grown children home in DC for Christmas. Nancy Mallory Sansouci has been snowshoeing weekly in the North Conway area with her hiking friends this winter.

Stevens sisters 2009

Larkin Stevens sent a photo from her camp days 1965. She replicated the photo 35 years later and writes, "I think it is a precious photo. My sister, Courtney, was a Junior and I was an Intermediate, so we weren't together a lot that summer, but we ended up going to boarding school together and she recently moved from New Hampshire to within four blocks of me in Alexandria, Virginia, and is my best friend in the world. Linda Cornelius Neisser, from Buffalo and one of the many fellow Buffalo campers that year, remains one of my dearest friends. "Camp Life – defining, long lasting and meaningful"

Barbara "Bunny" Bowen - boberg@princeton.edu

I came to Wyonegonic in 1951. My mother, a school friend of Helen Cobb's from Portland Maine and herself a Wyo girl, told me from an early age that I would be going off to the oldest and "best" girls' camp in the country when I was "old enough." At the age of 9, then, I was "delivered," all the way from Michigan, by my parents and little sister Louise—later a camper herself—to spend the summer in Miss Kirby's tent in Junior Camp. Junior, Intermediate, Senior, CIT, Aid, and counselor were the pattern of my life for twelve years! It would be hard to imagine any other aspect of life that was so defining, long lasting, and meaningful—well, except perhaps motherhood. How did camp shape me? Let me count the ways!

When I was finishing lunch with a colleague at the informal faculty club dining room at Princeton recently and he noted that in addition to clearing our own plates, we should pick up a couple of items that someone before us had left on the table. Yes, I immediately agreed, and then almost without thinking said to Rand, "always leave your campsite better than you found it." The words just tumbled out of me. Perhaps my friend thought it a little odd, but he didn't say anything. This "rule" was just something you picked up at Wyonegonic, whether you were at a campsite on an overnight to upper Moose Pond, a three-day Saco River trip, or one of the incredibly special five-day Casco Bay sailing trips in Senior Camp. I think it typifies care and concern for others, appreciation for ones surroundings, and good practice for life.

At another lunch in that same casual faculty dining room, a good friend and I started talking about our girlhood experiences. Adria Holmes Katz and I have known each other for years, but we had never had that "what did you do in the summer" conversation. And what do you suppose we learned? We'd both been at Wyonegonic. Within five seconds we burst into "W-Y-O-N-E-----," doubtless amusing some of the folks sitting nearby. Whenever I meet new people, an early question is, "where did you go to camp?" When giving a lecture on Thomas Jefferson at the Nassau Club in Princeton I was chatting with the man who was to introduce me—Herb Hobler. After talking American history for a while I decided to take a flying leap: "Hobler. You didn't happen to have daughters who went to camp in Maine by any chance?" I asked. But of course he did, and we were off and running about Mary and Debbie, whom I remembered as campers from when I was a counselor.

When people ask me what I do for a living, I jokingly answer: "I read other peoples' mail." In a sense that's true. I teach and I write early American history. My research focuses on Thomas Jefferson, and I read and publish his correspondence. Right now I live in 1802 with him, when he is president and receiving hundreds and hundreds of letters. I especially treasure his letters to and from his daughters, and these remind me of the dozens and dozens of letters my mother wrote to me at camp. That's when I started feeling the importance of written communication between parents and children, siblings, and friends. Camp is about making connections, in writing, in activities, and in song, of course.

Because of the wonders of my Wyonegonic life I connect to friends and nature through my kayak, which I NEVER would have thought to do if it hadn't been for canoeing at camp, and through constant letters and e-mails to friends across the years. "Only connect," wrote the British writer E.M. Forester in his novel Howard's End. I would add, "Only keep connecting." My Cabin 1 counselor, Annie Williamson, and I have now been friends for 58 years and we never go a year without a "reunion" in Portland, Maine. Now THAT'S what camp is about.

Martine Conley Twito is active as a full time Mom. She lives with her husband Bruce in Seattle with children Max (4½) and Celia (2½). Jeff and Barb Koontz Hollis celebrated 40 years of marriage after meeting as Winona/Wyonegonic chaperones on opening day. Barb enjoys working part time in the Higher Education Permission and Rights section of Pearson Education in Boston. Kathy Callaghan Rex continues to grow the Landsharks Running Club and has expanded her efforts to include Team Handball. You may recall that she was the goalie on the Woman's Olympic Handball team decades ago. Ann Phelps Jacobs and her Dad won two USTA National Father/Daughter tennis tournaments in Florida and Boston last year. Ann lives in the Boston area and has a son at Concord Academy and a son who went to Interlachen Music Camp last summer.

Bea Waring reports that all four daughters, Lisa, Kim, Wendy and Laurie are all well and have college age children. Susan Eldridge Jakiela has sons in college at Northeastern U. and Dickenson. Jean Eldridge Gutsche has a freshman at Annapolis and a high school senior Laura, who is an exceptional viola player. Jack Erler and his wife Ellen are building a vacation home in Puerto Rico. Jack continues to practice law in Portland. He likes his work lobbying for Maine Youth Camp Association. He also provides training for camp counselors on legal issues and Maine State laws. Jamie Gaudion says that daughter Lexie has bought a condo in Portland, ME and Henry is at Gould Academy. Marie Meaney Drury has two young boys who keep her smiling. Carsten is one year old and his older brother Noah is four. Marie has been helping with curriculum for a new charter school that will open in 2010 serving K-8 in midtown Atlanta.

Thanks to a generous Grandmother, Tracey Mischka Chaffin and her siblings enjoyed a post Christmas cruise with their families from Tampa to South America. Olivia Eyben Fontaine enjoyed a visit from Lise Edleberg Nigrovic. Twenty years ago they enjoyed camp together and now they are visiting in Belgium with good memories and stories to share about their children. Mary Felton would like to move if she can find a teaching job in the Boston area. She is currently teaching in NY State. Sally Clayton Caras's daughter Emily is captain of the Cornell U. Swim team.

Molly Dillon Brabham and her family visited her parents on Moose Pond while daughters Megan and Abby returned for their second summer at Wyo. Barbara Trafton and her family of Bealls hiked along the 100 mile northern most ridge of the Pacific Crest Trail. She reported days of ridge top traverses and amazing views. Keziah is at the U of VA and has reconnected with fellow camp friend Felice Mueller who is at U of Michigan. Both girls row for their respective colleges and see each other at common competition venues.

Barb Trafton's family of 4 cross country skiers

Liz Tauck Walters manages the Tauck Foundation from her home office as she monitors the daily life of three young girls. Next year the twins step off to kindergarten. Liz has traded in baby strollers and sippy cups for days of hiking and camping on the Olympic Peninsula and skiing at Mt Baker in Washington State. Her husband has stayed a step ahead of the H1N1 virus in his medical practice at Bainbridge Pediatrics. Elizabeth Hardy Carey shuttles four children between school, activities and volunteer work. She spends her summers in Maine and two of her daughters Olivia and Alison are at Wyonegonic. Katie Hill Compton writes from California and says even though she spent just one summer at Wyo during her Williams College years, the people and the place still bring fond memories. Katie is Senior Director of Marketing for Sybase Inc. in California. Her daughter Helen will be a pottery counselor at Wyo.

Jess and Andy Hogue have a happy, healthy son, Will. Jess ran in the NY Marathon and Andy has taken up the Decathlon. He won two gold medals at the Master' National Championship and qualified as an All - American.

Hogue parents with Will

Eddie Sonne Hall is working for Weyerhaeuser in the Sustainable Forests and Products group in Seattle. She expects child number three this spring. Sarah Rebick is training for the Boston Marathon with a running group in Boulder, CO where she teaches. Jenn Blakeman Terry is teaching part time at a local Charter School in Boise, Idaho. Her children are five and two. Jenn has taken part in two Triathalons and runs an occasional 10K. Gretchen and John Adsit honeymooned at Wyo over 30 years ago and now they are spending 12 weeks a year in NC focusing on dog training and field events. At home in Vermont, John has a trailer business and cuts firewood for sugaring. Gretchen practices, yoga, hikes, teaches bone building classes and plays volleyball.

The Adsit Family

Meg Hanson Snyder, who lives in Mexico, is going to Phoenix for a wedding and she will see Margaret Pfitzer Mullins with whom she was a counselor in 1980. This will be there first visit in 8 years. Meg's daughter was a senior camper the past two summers. Mary Travaglini traveled to Alaska and is now settled in DC where she likes her work with the Nature Conservancy. Pat Feager sent greetings from Coppell, TX. Daughter Carrie resides in Switzerland but recently visited camp. Marie Glanville sent Christmas photos of her three children. Jill lives in Denver with her husband and two girls; Jody is in Florida as is son Jack and family. Marie is with the Public Defender's office in Florida. The department has been recognized by the state for their Mental Health Court and Re-Entry Program. Elizabeth Chadwick sends word that another generation of Wyo campers was born in December. Welcome to the world Findlay Hope Kizzier.

Findlay Hope Kizzier

Diane White Mealo enjoyed Family Camp with her husband and Olivia. They live in Florida but have family in Fryeburg whom they visit annually. Lisa Schroeder Bedell sent "The Kids Are All Right," a book written by Diana Welch and her sister. It is a memoir about the siblings growing up after losing both parents. Diana was a Wyo camper during this tough time in her life and attributes camp as a stabilizing event. Paula Williams Butler continues to teach. She sends greetings and enjoys reading the LOON. Barbara McDonald traveled to Norway to be with Susan for grandchild #2, Mattias. Then Susan McDonald Bekkmo spent 5 months with them in Atlanta. Susan was on maternity leave and brought her two children for a family visit to Georgia. The family also included some Maine vacation time.

The McDonald Family

Bruce, Susan, Scott, Barbara and Janet

Debbie Atwood said they celebrated a family Christmas in Corpus Christi, Texas at son Ryan's, MBA graduation. Daughter Abbey Atwood is teaching in Oakland, CA, her 4th year. In the summer she is director of Leadership Training at Wyonegonic. Last summer the entire family rallied in Maine for Bill's 60th and a visit to Winona and Wyonegonic.

Diana, Si, Donna & Heidi

Heidi Froehling replicated a photo at Simone Carroll's wedding of Donna, Di, Si and Heidi (Wyo staff mates in 1996) from New Zealand and Australia. This group has been successful in holding annual reunions, despite work, family and children responsibilities. Heidi has two girls and has her own business in Sydney. Kathy Haubert Woolgar will be leading the girl scout troop on a May Camping Weekend. She will rely on skills learned on Wyo canoe trips and also tricks she has picked up as a mother of two girls. Kathy and her family live in Scotland. Sue Weissman works at Keystone Ski Resort hopes to ski with Carol in March in Summit County. Claire Kelley Hardon is happy that her daughter will be an AC. They are beginning the college search. Ginny Geyer who teaches in Maine, and says there has been a drop in flight students, thus her flight time has dwindled. Johanne McIvor and Bill came cross country skiing in Jackson, NH in February. Johanne has been substitute teaching and visiting her 100 year old Mom in Venice, FL. They poked their heads into the Wyo office to say hi in February.

Jenny Huettner, Barb Hollis,
Johanne & Bill McIvor

Gail Edgerly has moved to Homer Alaska to be near her two boys Luke and Jake. She writes it is extraordinarily beautiful. Betsy Jones Macomber reports that her daughter Heather is completing her residency at the Fort Benning Army Base in Family Practice. They have two young sons. Betsy visits GA often and enjoys the grandparent role. Betsy is also involved in directing the community musical, this year "Les Miserables." We welcome Barbie Atwood Cobb as Junior Unit Director. She will be accompanied by daughters Abby, age 7 and Ellie, age 5. Barbie lives in Weston MA with her husband Alex, a loyal Agawam alum. Barbie spent 7 summers at Wyonegonic, last on staff in 1994. She spent younger years at Camp Kehonka in NH which went out of business in the mid-eighties.

Diana McAlpine enjoyed vacationing with her AFS family in Vancouver and then came to Maine for a Wyo visit, lobster with Carol and a Maine tick for a souvenir.

Diana McAlpine

Diana also saw Susie Sudduth Hammond, Lisa Brecht and Mary Dyon before returning to New Zealand. Becky and Roger Parsons are now living on Cape Cod. They are caregivers to Becky's Mom and their home in NH is for sale. Becky left her nursery school directorship job. Mary Graves Vonnegut reports that Coco is happily settled as a freshman at Colgate in Hamilton, NY. She has already performed in her first college play, "Reefer." Mary's husband Norbert has launched his first novel, a financial thriller, "Top Producer" and is now writing "The Fund." Mary is trying to get used to having very independent children. Jenny Stewart writes, "Wyo is never far from my thoughts & dreams. I am emigrating to the Vancouver area in January, initially to work in Whistler for a couple of months at the winter olympics & paraolympics as an HR Manager with VANOC. I spent a chunk of time there this summer & then again this autumn & now hope to move there permanently." Pam McGinley Quackenbush sent thanks for the great WYO memories for the McGinley and Quackenbush girls.

Kara Schlick Trask has two young children and has started her own marketing consulting business. She said that Karla Henwood Kirby is living in NJ.

"Alert" sailing the Mexican Coast. Back home in Washington State they enjoyed skiing trips to Salt Lake City for adventures with their grandchildren. Virginia Snodgrass continues with her PHD Program in Education Policy and Planning at the U of Texas. Sister Annie traveled to London, Berlin, Warsaw, Budapest and Prague this summer. She is at Dartmouth's Tuck School of Business. Sister Helen is teaching at Stanford and has started her Masters in Education. David and Becky Sudduth live in Breckenridge. They hosted a family meeting and ski weekend in their newly remodeled home. Lucas age 6 and Ellie, age 4 keep them young and active. They hope to return to Family Camp.

Glick parents with Elijah

Sissy Urista expects her first child this March and plans to take 9 months maternity leave from her marketing work with Proctor and Gamble. Wendy and David Wescott purchased a home in the Bridgton area for future retirement. They have kept their vacation fishing/hunting cottage that is a mile walk away. It has a beautiful view of Mt Washington. Wendy walked through camp and loves that we kept the fireplace from the old Junior Wiggie and with an activity area deck wrapped around it. Sandy Burnnam Clark enjoyed her walk through Wyo with friends. Memories were triggered of her years in the Wyo kitchen and experiences her two daughters enjoyed. Sophie Salm-Horstmar also had a sentimental walk down the cabinline. Sophie visited from her home

Laurie Mitchell Woods wrote from CA that her daughter Maddie is excited about going on the 3 1/2 week Wyo Wilderness Canoe Trip this summer. Laurie is a doctor in San Diego. Allison Forbes enjoys her work with Sierra Club in DC and reconnecting with good friend Judy Harvey. Casey Nagel Merritt works as an instructor of Forest Rangers for the US Government. Her home base is Denali Park in Alaska and she hopes the job will extend into year round employment. Casey came East and enjoyed a picnic with Carol and Diana McAlpine on top of Foss Mt in Eaton Center NH.

David & Becky Sudduth with Lucas & Ellie

Wyonegonic-The Right Stuff - by Trudy Bower

trudy.bower@yahoo.com

People often ask me which of my experiences best prepared me for the life of a UN humanitarian aid worker, to which I reply without hesitation, "Camp Wyonegonic." Why? Because in the guise of summer fun, it provides opportunities to build skill sets that become success factors in life and in the workplace: survival skills, teambuilding skills, leadership skills. How else would a shy little girl from New Jersey have had the confidence to pack a sleeping bag and suitcase and head off alone to India in 1978? This was the beginning of a 30-year career overseas with many adventures in Southern Asia and Africa, against a backdrop of post-colonial nation building: Presidential assassinations (Bangladesh and Mozambique), successful coups d'etat (Burundi and Cote d'Ivoire), unsuccessful coups d'etat (most everywhere) while confronting the day to day challenges of living, working and caring for my family: health risks, security risks, car accidents, malaria and SNAKES!

My mother, a native of Auburn, Maine, said she sent me to camp "to build my confidence by learning how to do things." And she was right. Tennis has been a lifelong hobby which translates internationally, opening doors to new and valuable friendships. I sent my own two girls to Wyo, out of Africa, to reconnect with their American culture and peers, while learning the same skills that I did: swimming, tennis, sailing (although camping for them was too much like roughing it in Africa).

One never knows when or how these skills will be requisitioned. One example comes to mind when my older brother took me on a trip in his 30' sailboat to sail around the Hawaiian Islands. I was 18 at the time. As it grew dark and rough in the open sea, my brother handed me the tiller (I was the only one not seasick) and disappeared below to rest, leaving me alone to battle the waves, fighting to hold the tiller steady and navigating using a star as a reference. Somehow, I stayed the course, thanks to Wyo sailing lessons and experience as an instructor. On another occasion, while visiting a beach in Southern Madagascar, I was chatting with a missionary couple when a white object caught my eye. Within seconds I ran down to the water's edge and pulled out their 2 year old who was caught rolling around in the rough surf. This would be true for many situations that required an immediate "take charge" response: dragging my kids out of bed and crawling on all fours to the back of the house during a coup attempt, as bullets reached their bedroom windows or, as officer-in-charge, coming up with a plan to evacuate staff to their homes amidst marauding gangs of disgruntled soldiers shooting wildly in the air. No time to think, no time for bravery, you know what to do and you do it.

Much has been written about how the brain becomes wired to react unconsciously, by instinct, to challenges or dangers ("Blink!"). Much of my wiring was built up during those 13 summers of camp, from Junior camper to CIT/AID and counselor. There was an emphasis on learning and practicing safety and survival in the out of doors, through training (Water Safety Aid, First Aid, Maine Woodsman, JMG), activities such as riflery (gun safety), canoeing and sailing (boat safety) and canoe and mountain trip experiences. Building the wet day fire, digging and using primitive latrines, and reading by the light of a hurricane lantern prepared me for the most physically grueling job in rural Bangladesh, night after night without electricity, sweating under the mosquito net and hurricane lantern, not unlike Wyo camping trips. Long days in the hot, tropical sun, measuring roads for labor-intensive food for work projects, required stamina and resilience reminiscent of Wyo canoe or mountain trips, when every stroke, every step tested your physical and mental limits. Never did I imagine that my knowledge of boating would be so critical to my day to day work, whether this be monitoring projects in remote locations in Bangladesh (which is under water half of the year) by various primitive means of water transport or undertaking flood assessments in Ghana using the villagers' rough hewn dugouts. My colleagues and government counterparts were terrified to step in; needless-to-say, for me, it was like riding a bicycle (step in the middle, keep your weight low etc etc).

Living in the tiny Wyo cabins, in close proximity to your cabinmates and counselor, laid the foundations for "teambuilding and conflict resolution" as we say. When I became a senior manager with the UN, I had to motivate individuals from different nationalities and ethnic groups to work together as a team to respond quickly and efficiently to food crises. At camp these skills are honed through cabin life, learning tolerance, negotiating space and clean up duties, collaborating in cabin skits and competitions, working together to achieve Honor Cabin in order to win that trip to Winona movies. As a counselor, these skills were further leveraged from a position of authority as we, in turn, became the role models for another generation.

Camp builds skills from which confidence grows and leadership is strengthened. Wyo has accompanied the women's movement, which blossomed in the early 1970s with new opportunities for women in the workplace. I was among the first generation of women recruited for these dangerous overseas jobs. How many girls has Wyo nurtured and challenged in its 100 year history? Wyo enables girls leadership by providing opportunities to lead: camp teams, evening programs and plays, activity-based competitions, wilderness trips with smaller teams created around tasks such as committees for cooking, cleaning and firewood collection.

Much of my work in Africa has been centered around girls education and the empowerment of women, through skills training and support to productive activities and group organization. Starting my career was largely a matter of education and language credentials on paper. However, to succeed in this career, you need "The Right Stuff": a combination of practical know how, stamina, tolerance and emotional intelligence. These competencies were nurtured during my formative years at Wyo and are valued even more in hindsight, through the lens of age and experience.

Carey Favaloro is on the Middlebury College Campus and started her college career after working on an organic farm in Hawaii this Fall. Dana Hubbard bumped into a camp friend at a swim meet at Deerfield Academy. Katie Goldener Brown expects to return to camp with the boys. She teaches in Hawaii. Currently Katie is lying low as she recovers from successful back surgery. Mill has returned from another tour of duty as a psychiatrist in Iraq. Kelly Quackenbush attends St Andrews U in Scotland. Sarah Rackliffe is in Costa Rica volunteering for a year in an educational program. Meagan Hawes and Mom, Kathleen Gagan, enjoyed dinner with us. Meagan was on her way back to John Hopkins for Semester #2. She is a leader in the Environmental Club, assists in a math class of 8th graders, plays club soccer and is studying. Kathleen owns her own commercial peony business, loves working outdoors and managing the challenge of a small business. She misses the people at camp. Kathleen was recently on the Martha Stewart Show - questions@peoniesenvy.com.

Mary Murphy sends greetings from Cambridge, MA. Marni Kaplan Earle reports that Margaret and Harry are into swimming, soccer, riding and good books. Marni is doing some creative teaching in area schools and museums. Claire Auchinvole is helping the scouts as a guide. She is in Christchurch New Zealand completing her teacher training. The Orillacs moved from Paris to Abu Dhabi - new schools, new friends, new language, new customs. Cordelia continues to mend well from her shattered vertebrae accident in Panama. She will miss camp this summer but her sister Paulina intends to return. Cousins Kea Trevett and Avery Forbes plan on returning as counselors in Senior Camp. They are pictured with older sister Allison Forbes and the Forbes parents.

The Forbes Family with Kea

Aislinn Smith has been on the go. She played rugby all over the East Coast, Florida and San Francisco. She taught ESL in South Korea.

Ellie Clayton is a freshman at Dartmouth and plans to play Lacrosse this spring. The Brunings went to San Diego for Amanda's October wedding.

Amanda Bruning with groom

Simone Carroll Germech says she and her husband, Michael, would love to figure out a way to bring the three children to camp and enjoy an American Adventure. The children are Teagan 7, Nathan 10, and Keira 12 and have a great love of the outdoors. Rachel Kelly loves her work with high school students on the U of Denver campus. She has bought a house in Denver with fiancé Matt and now owns two shelter dogs. Rachel shared pizza recently with Susie and Carol and Claire Schreiber in Denver.

Susie, Rachel, Carol, & Claire

Claire is happy that her employer "Camp Leaders" will allow her to return to Wyonegonic as program director this summer. Julia Bedell drove from Bates College to the Farmhouse Winter Weekend. We enjoyed hearing about her school year in India. Kaitlin Cochran is going to spend her summer working as a counselor at a camp in Japan. Logan Reese needs the summer to rehab his knee after surgery this spring. Andrew Humphreys will be returning to Maine after a season working in New Zealand as a canyoning guide. Andrew will be leading the Wyonegonic Wilderness Canoe Trip first session with Abby Burbank. Abby will teach WSI and Lifeguarding in June at the Wyonegonic Training Clinics. She is consumed with her lacrosse coaching at Skidmore College at this time of year.

Lindsay and Greg Luetje have bought another "fix-it-up" house in Bethel Maine. They will tackle many projects with the house this summer. Echo and Baya have welcomed a new roommate, rescue dog Moses. Beth Darling writes, "I'm finishing my prerequisites for school and volunteering at an equine vet clinic near my house. I'm also the barn manager at the barn I've ridden at and am teaching again. And, I bought a horse this month! His name is Rocky, and he's SO sweet and wonderful and incredible and - you know how it is. He's keeping me busy." Kirstie Ingmundson hopes to be in Central America this summer volunteering for Safe Passages. Jenn Hollis Perkins is flying to Boston to attend the ACA Conference in New Hampshire with Susie, Steve and Carol Sudduth, newly appointed Junior Unit Director, Barbie Atwood Cobb, and Jill Gasperini. Claire Schreiber will be able to attend as she is working the conference in the exhibit hall for Camp Leaders. Whit Ryan and Chris Wentworth are attending so Wyonegonic will be well represented at New England ACA. We will have a few key staff meetings between sessions and take the gang out for dinner. Whit Ryan reported that Charlie has mastered the snowboard and will spend a week of school vacation in CO with his uncle. His Dad Fran had an unfortunate spill on his board and is now navigating the Rumsey Hall Campus on a golf cart with a broken knee cap.

Maggie and Charlie Ryan

Ceidleigh Bryce visited Denmark for two weeks in March and enjoyed some New England spring skiing. She visited the Wentworths, Karen Grey, Carolyn Findeisen and Andi Giddings. Chris Wentworth and his family moved next door to the Sudduth Farmhouse. Olivia's swing set has a beautiful view of Pleasant Mountain. Kiersten Johnson will work at a camp closer to her Ohio home so that she can be within driving distance of her husband.

Betsy McFarland visited Jill Gasperini at her Shawnee Peak Ski House and Carol came over for lunch. Since then Betsy has been dealing with Philadelphia snow. Claire O'Connell is taking the twins to Hawaii to visit cousins and learn how to "surf." They will then head to Wyonegonic as she returns as a Wyo RN.

Patrick & Preston

Angela McGrath (Brown) has moved to Boulder CO and the kids are loving the Colorado life style. Angela has her real estate license. She says the girls had an incredible experience at Wyo and Nate is returning to Winona as a CIT. Sarah Kelsey made a big move from Chicago to Salt Lake City! Elizabeth "Zab" Shultz Bioteau, Abbie Wescott and Ben Ricketts all live there too. This group will meet up at camp in September for Abbie Wescott's September wedding. Abbie came to Maine for her February birthday and more wedding planning.

Irene Loedolff's baby,
Helena

Irene Constandius Loedolff is enjoying baby Helena. Mom has returned to work which is just across the street. She writes, "Thank you for still keeping in touch after all the years gone by. It is my 6th summer away from camp. Thanks again for such an amazing experience that I will never forget. I hope the sun shines brightly over camp with lots of fun and laughter coming up through the trees and over the lake. May God bless all the work you do and the impact you have on each child's life."

Carrie Edmundson is a Senior at Amherst College. Her cousins from Seattle, Lauren Bahn is at McAlister College in Minnesota and Hannah Bahn will be making her college decision this month. She hopes to land in Maine. Sami Sudduth has been teaching skiing on weekends at Stratton MT in Vermont. Sami has many nice choices to consider for college in the Fall.

Jessica Scalzi writes, "I hope that the shores of Moose Pond are just as beautiful as I remember them! I am currently taking a nature writing course as part of my Masters Degree in Secondary Education, and I am attempting to write a short piece on my fond memories of Moose Pond. I want to incorporate some of the songs that I remember fondly, but I cannot remember the lyrics to "Summer Patterns"!!! The chorus comes easily, but the verses are all jumbled in my mind. That song was always one of my favorites."

Andrea Harris will return to assist clinic courses and work at Wyo on weekends in the office. She and her husband are at Green Mountain Valley School in Vermont. Her two children will be returning to Winona and Wyo. Richard Stanley and Lauren Steven send warm greetings from the UK.

Lauren and Rich

Andrea Kelly is working in New Jersey at an Easter Seals Camp. Kelly Siegel is currently finishing up her senior year at NYU, lives in NYC and enjoys every minute. She is writing her thesis and started graduate course work. She is working towards an accelerated Masters Degree, and will become a full time grad student in the fall. Kelly ran into Leah Feldman now a nursing student at NYU. Also on campus are Kea Trevett and Morgan Ingari. Morgan is happy in the city but had tons of fun sliding down the Inty Hill at the staff Winter Weekend at the Sudduth Farmhouse. Both will return as counselors this summer.

Kate Humphrey is applying to graduate school, most likely for an urban planning or similar program. She writes, "May I use you as a reference, Wyonegonic certainly knows me better and longer than any other professor that I have had." Kate is currently in Texas helping with younger cousins. Cookie Harrist is in Vermont at Marlboro College after spending the fall semester with Outward Bound. Inger Krueger is in Abu Dhabi working as a librarian and is loving teaching her students.

Kat Connors is doing a post graduate year in London in classical acting. She reports, "The other day in singing class we had to bring in a folk song and I chose 'The Cruel War' which I think Anne Judge reintroduced to us back in '00 (maybe) when she came to get input before writing the Wyo 100th Musical. My teacher quite liked the song with its story/sentiment which of course made me happy.

Sarah Mack Christian had a small family wedding on Cathedral Ledge in North Conway in October. She says, "It wasn't the traditional wedding.... purple dress, Cathedral Ledge, Flatbread Pizza... and I loved it all."

Sarah Mack Christian
with groom, Tim

Sara Patterson was on a Disney Cruise in early January and ran into 2007 Jinty Sailing staff James Austin who was working on the boat (small world). Sara has finished applications for grad school. She and Mom, Donna Patterson came to the Philadelphia Reunion. The Pattersons are building a small vacation house close to Wyo that Sara has designed. Anne Kearns Fields reports that daughters Sarah (at the U of Richmond) and Megan (Duke) are having good college years. Anne finishes her Masters degree in Public Health this summer and will return as a Session II nurse to the shores of Moose Pond.

Carolyn Findeisen is busy between substitute teaching and studying Outdoor Education through Prescott University. Andi Giddings hopes to move to Colorado in the fall after a return to Wyonegonic. Steph Farnham joined us in New Jersey for dinner and a catch up of her teaching and coaching. Hannah Judge is hoping to be a counselor this summer. She is actively involved on the Middlebury Campus. There is an eager group of friends returning as staff, now that they have a year of college under their belt: Abby Cook, Jane Barnard, Courtney Whiting, Kristen Monaco, Meagan Hawes. The Woodbury's, Amy, Mary, Lizzie can be seen skiing Pleasant Mountain as the family owns a vacation home at the base of Shawnee Peak Ski Area.

"Camp Friends, A huge Comfort" -

Judy Harvey

judybharvey@gmail.com

Since graduating college in 2003, I've lived in four different cities. Uprooting myself so often is tough (especially since my clothes no longer fit into a trunk). Fortunately, I've been able to reconnect with several camp friends in the various places I've lived, making the moves easier.

While living in New York City, I was craving time outdoors. Liza Trafton, who I had gotten in touch with again only a few weeks before, suggested we go hiking upstate, and we met up with Mary Felton on the train on Saturday morning. We made our way up to a beautiful ridge overlooking the Hudson River. All around us were the gorgeous fall colors; I felt revived. At some point we got a little lost (probably because we were without our trip leader Joel Bruning!), but managed to make the last train back to the city. When I got home, I couldn't stop thinking about how lucky I was to be hiking with the same people who had been with me on my first sunrise hike or climb up Mt. Washington so many years before.

After New York, I moved west to Denver, and spent an incredible year with Kate Smulligan. We met our first summer at camp when we were ten, and Kate's memorable and contagious laugh hasn't changed. Thanks to summers spent searching through the Wiggle's costume box, a quick trip to JoAnn Fabrics and the pet store was all we needed to make fabulous Flintstones-themed Halloween costumes with 1980s-era flair. We met up with Rachel Kelly and Claire Schreiber for other creative endeavors. For guaranteed fun at arts and crafts this summer, I highly recommend that Wyo invest in a Beadazzler.

Now in DC, I live just a few blocks away from Allison Forbes and Clare Dowdle. Allison pulls together fabulous dinner parties at a moment's notice. Clare has decorated her new apartment with beautiful secondhand items that would make any designer jealous. So, we're pretty grown up now. But we're not above getting silly every now and then. Last month on the way home from the Wyo reunion, we walked together on a crowded city sidewalk, belting out Evening Circle songs. Ten years after our last summer at camp, we remembered most all of the words.

Continuing to spend time with camp friends is a huge comfort and joy to me. Because of our shared experience, we are uniquely close. We don't bother too much with small talk, just pick up where we left off. Only when we see each other now our outfits aren't limited in color to green, white, and khaki!

Family Camp

What others are saying . . .

"Family camp... is where my children learned independence and responsibility, and where we have, for the last 17 years, experienced the rewards of lifetime friendships, and the joy of having unabated fun."

"... The experience is renewing every year, and a spiritual high that lasts from August to August."

"The children love the freedom of going to their favorite activities and we adults feel free to pick and choose how active we want to be. My sister and I especially love to come together with our children for a fun, low-stress time in a beautiful and memorable place!"

Family Camp Program

Family Camp offers two different types of programs; staff led activities and those that you can do by yourself. All boating activities require a swim evaluation.

Staff led activities

- Swimming
- Sailing
- Water skiing (age 11 and up)
- Sail boarding (age 11 and up)
- Archery
- Crafts
- Day canoe trip (Session II only)
- Ropes Course (age 11 and up)
- Pleasant Mountain hike
- Evening programs for all ages

Activities

- Canoeing, rowing, funyaks
- Tennis
- Volleyball
- Fishing (license required)
- Basketball
- Hiking

Extra Fee Activities

- Horseback riding

Places of interest for nearby day trips

- Freeport (1 1/4 hours)
- Portland area beaches (1 hour)
- North Conway (1/2 hour)
- Mt Washington/White Mtns (1 hour)

Family Camp Fees and Dates

Fees are shown, per individual, per session. There is a reduced fee for Juniors (age 5-10) and Seniors (over 65). There is no charge for children under age 5. No adjustments are made for people arriving late or departing early.
